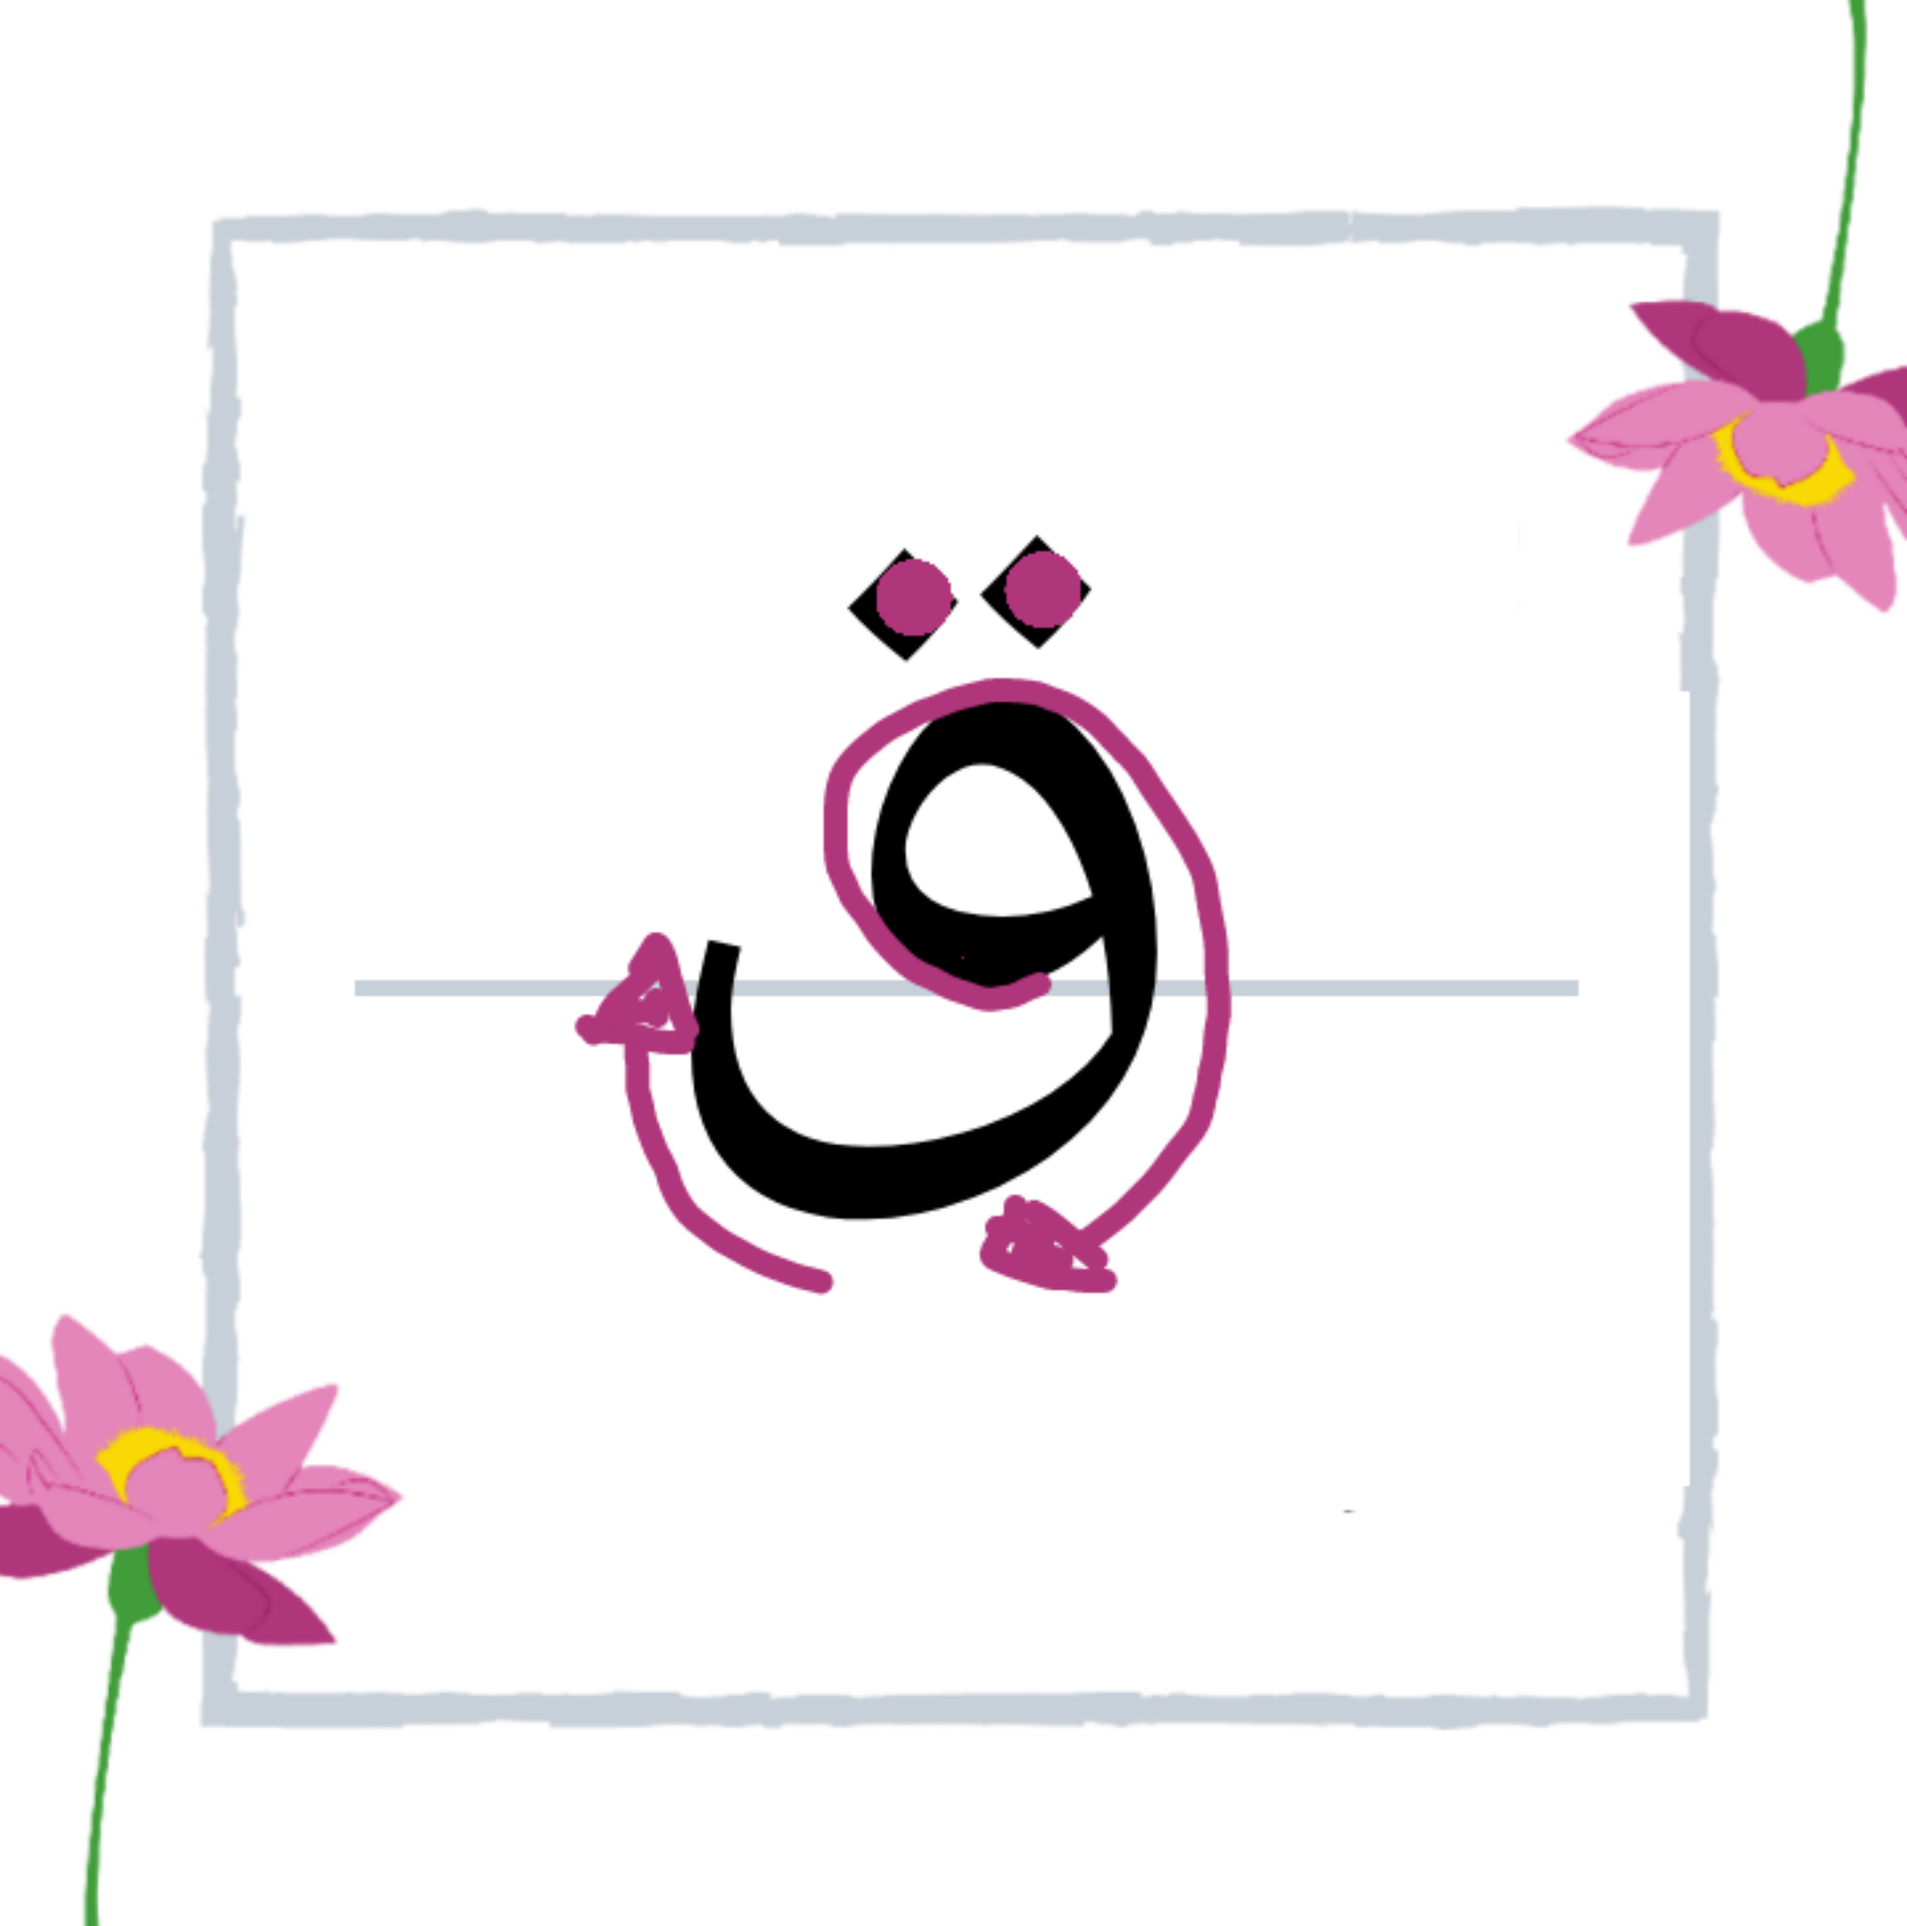
Lesson 17

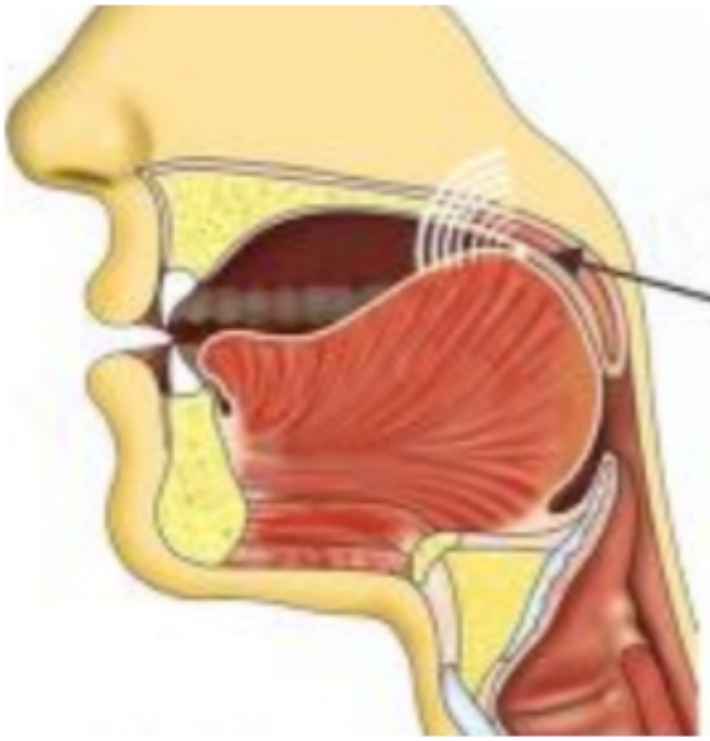
The 21st letter in the Arabic alphabet is the letter QAAF. There is no equivalent sound in the English alphabet. We produce the sound by pressing the lower part of the tongue against the back of the upper palatte close to the beginning of the throat.



ق

With short vowels:

قَ قِ قُ



ق

اَقْ - اِقْ - اُقْ

ق

End	Middle	Beginning
ق ق	ـقـ قـ	قـ

*When the ق comes in the middle, if preceded by a letter that doesn't allow joining then it will be written like in the beginning, and if it's preceded by a letter that doesn't allow joining when at the end it will be in its original form.

قُتِرَ أَقِ إِقُ
